MAY BE A MURDERER

The Decidedly Unpleasant Predicament of Major Joe Stewart.

HE HIT A MAN WITH AN UMBRELLA

In a Street Altercation, and the Wound Has Proved Fatal.

A EUFFIAN'S RUDENESS TO A WOMAN.

The Cause of Ris Death Under Circumstances That Ave Most Peculiar.

Several weeks since Major Joe Stewart, of New York, in resenting an insult to his wife, struck a man with an umbrella. It now seems that the point entered the man's eye, and eventually caused his death, Until yesterday the Major was entirely ignorant of the serious result of what he regarded as a trifling blow.

NEW YORK, November 20 .- The identity of the man who, in this city, assaulted young Martin Flynn with an umbrella, the ferule of which was jabbed into his eye, eausing death some weeks later, is now thought to be known. - The police have been working on the case, but it remained for a reporter to make the discovery, and get the full and correct account of the offur.

"I don't know whether I shall give myself up or not," said he, "but the police can find me, as I have no intention of running away.

in the papers, but it never occurred to him that Flynn was the unknown man with whom he had had an altercation several weeks before.

Major Joe Stewart, the genial Southern gentleman whose efforts in behalf of the Contederate Soldiers' Home in Austin, Tex., last winter, gave him a wide popularity in the South and gained him a large number of friends in New York, is the gentleman referred to. He has a law office at 62 Wall street. It was in defending his wife from the insults of a ruffian that the Major now believes he has unwittingly caused the death of a man who is entirely unknown to him. He did not know he had injured the man, but finally the weight of the facts convinced

"Say that I authorize this statement," he said, when he and the reporter separated. The statement of the facts in the case is as "The man with whom I had the trouble was about 5 leet 9 to 10 inches in height, He was dressed in dark clothes, had a dark complexion and wore a dark mustache. He weighed about 140 pounds, wore a derby hat. He was not drunk, but had evidently been drinking. I don't remember the exact hour, but I believe it was not later in the evening than 9:30 o'clock of October 18. I was walking down Broadway with my wife at the time. The other man was walking up the thoroughfare. SOMEWHAT IMPERTINENT.

The man passed between the Major and his wite and the building at the corner. As the stranger passed close to Mrs. Stewart he took hold of her arm and said: "How d'ye?" Whereupon, continued Mr. Stewart, "I released my wife's arm and struck the man over the head with my umbrella several times. He was stunned and fell back. My wife stepped over to the corner. The man stepped up again to renew the attack I put my hand in my pocket to reach for my knife, as I had no other weapon. I found my knife was too small, and I struck at the man again with my umbrella. He put his hand behind him, and I thought he was about to draw a pistol. At this moment two gentlemen came up and interfered. They said: 'You've hit him enough, I waited five minutes for a policeman, but none appeared, and I went back to my wife at the corner where I had left her. then crossed the street and went to a drugstere, where my wife expected to meet a lady friend. I did not find the lady and we started back. When I got to the corner I met a man who said he was connected with the Postoffice Department. 'I believe. said to me, 'you did just right. You shall be protected.' I said: 'I don't want any protection. I am not going across the street o avoid meeting the man.' I believe I also said. 'It is a little strange if the police can't be on a great thoroughfare to protect a gentleman from the attacks of ruffians."

HIS WIFE AGITATED. "By this time," the Major stated, "Mrs. Stewart was very much excited and agitated. The events of the evening, set apart for pleasure, had a very depressing effect upon her nerves. She did not wish to stay out any longer and insisted on going home at once, and I finally consented."

In reply to questions about the case Mr. Stewart said he was not aware that he had jabbed the man in the face or eye with his umbrella. He did notice, however, that there was some blood on the man's cheek after the affair. He had no idea the man was injured seriously. His only object had to resent a gross insult to his The whole affair was incomprehensible. He could not understand how a man who appeared to be a gentleman could be guilty of such conduct. He had broken to pieces and ruined a $12 silk umbrella, and e supposed that that constituted the principal damage. Major Stewart's face wore a troubled expression when he told the above story, and saw how all the facts appeared to point out that he had killed Flynn. He said that he would go at once over to the postoffice to see George DeBois, the letter carrier who saw the affair.

Major Stewart is a six-footer and beavy in proportion, weighing fully 240 pounds. He is a fine looking, courtly, genial Southerner, and can be seen any day on Wall street,

ANOTHER MAN IN IT.

Any Amount of Persons Think That They Killed Martin Flynn.

NEW YORK, November 20 .- Siegfried May, wholesale liquor dealer of 2931 First avenue, surrendered himself to the police today, stating that he was the man that stabbed Martin J. Flynn in the eye on upper Broadway in the latter part of October with an umbrella, inflicting a wound from which he died. The accused was taken to court and remanded for the Coroner's action.

Before the latter official May stated that

Flynn assaulted him, and that he only used the weapon in self-defense. The thrust is the eye he claimed was accidental, as he only meant to hit him across the face be said. The accused was paroled in the care of his counsel until to-morrow, bail being

TOO DRUNK TO GO HOME.

An Old Woman Who Wished to be Locked Out of Sight Temporarily. Last evening a well-dressed and rather respectable looking woman entered the Allegheny Mayor's office, and asked to be locked up. She was considerably the worse for liquor and did not wish to go home in that She was placed in a cell and docketed as DANGER FROM FIRE.

The East End Streets Impassable for Fire Englues-Considerable Uneasiness is

That danger from fire could be produced average citisen, but such appears to be the case at present, judging from the report of He states that a considerable portion of the is unpayed, is in such a condition that publie travel is almost suspended over it, and to the machinery of the Fire Department it is entirely closed, so that in case of a fire in such portions of that district as are not accessible by other streets that are paved, the building would simply have to be destroyed, without hindrance, so far as the department was concerned. was concerned.

In commenting on this report Superintendent Evans said last evening that fully nine-tenths of the unpaved streets in the suburban districts of the city were in exactly the same position. The depth of the mud on such streets varies from six inches to the cost of the city was and activities of the part freeze. to three leet, and until there is a hard freeze the depth of the mud will keep on increasing. Where the mud is more than a toot deep, even in spots, a fire engine cannot go because there is not space enough under the fire box and machinery to clear the street. There is not an engine in the city that has more than 18 inches in the clear under her pumps, and in some of them the space is ot over 14 inches. The result of one of these engines passing over a street where the mud reaches a depth of more than a foot would be to get the machinery clogged and probably broken and the engine stuck so fast that it would be necessary to take it apart to remove it.

a view to preventing the wheels from sinking so deep in the mud, but in the present condition of the streets even this precaution does not have the desired effect, and, as in the case of the fire in the Thirty-first ward last Sunday night, when a house burns they are simply compelled to let it burn because the apparatus cannot get near it. In the East Eud, on such streets as Roup, Craig, Walnut and Baum streets, Aiken, Center and Amberson avenues, if a fire were to break out just now, unless it happened to be very near to one of the main paved thoroughfares, the department would be unable to do anything but stand and watch i burn. This condition of affairs prevails over much the largest portion of the Eas End district and over a large territory in the other outlying districts. In the East End much of the trouble has been caused by the onstruction of sewers, making connections with water and gas pipes and other improve-ments, but the unpaved roads at this season are almost without exception impassable to the heavy fire engines. Superintendent Evans was asked what he thought a remedy for this condition o

"Let the people get their streets paved. Nothing else can be done. If they want the fire protection they help to pay for they must spend money for pavements and it might as well be done first as last."

Chartiers Valley Will be Punched Full of Holes-Big Bonus Paid.

Oil borers are still struggling for position along the lower end of Chartiers creek. It is now the field that attracts most attention and some of the garden farmers and dairymen will be too rich next spring to care much about their present occupation whether all get grease or not.

The Davis well continues to attract the principal part of attention. It is not being monkeyed with, and it is supposed that a little further drilling would make her a 1,000-barrels. She was still making 35 barreis an hour yesterday, though the drill had penetrated the sand only about a foot. It is supposed there is a good thickness of sand. IS not only a distressing complaint, of I itself, but, by causing the blood to become depraved and the system enfeebled, is the parent of innumerable maladies. That Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best cure for Indigestion, even when complicated with Liver Complaint. is proved by the following testimony from Mrs. Joseph Lake, of Brockway Centre, Mich .: -

"Liver complaint and indigestion made my life a burden and came near ending my existence. For more than four years I suffered untold agony, was reduced almost to a skeleton, and hardly had strength to drag myself about. All kinds of food distressed me, and only the most delicate could be digested at an. Within the time mentioned several physicians treated me without giving re-lief. Nothing that I took seemed to do any permanent good until I commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which has produced wonderful results. Soon encing to take the Sarsaparilia I could see an improvement in my condition. My appetite began to return and with it came the ability to diges. all the food taken, my strength improved each day, and after a few months of faithful attention to your directions. I found myself a well woman, able to attend to all household duties. The medicine has given me a new lease of life."
